ASSISTANT PRINCIPAL'S CORNER

Hello Jaguar Family,

I hope all of you had a wonderful Thanksgiving holiday! I know winter break is quickly approaching and progress reports went out the week of December 15th. I hope all of you are finding Parent Connect a useful tool to help monitor your child's success in school. Please let me know if you are still having difficulty or have any questions about this program. In response to some requests on how students can be supported at home, we will be offering a series of fantastic workshops that will cover the following topics: homework tips and study skills strategies (Jan. 13), time management and organization (Feb. 10), test preparation and anxiety (March 31), motivation (April 28), and increasing communication with your child and parenting in the 21st century

(May 19). We hope all of you take advantage of these great workshops, The workshops are from 6:00-7:00 pm and everyone is welcome to attend.

I want to wish all of you a safe winter break and a very happy new year! This year has been truly exciting and I look forward to an even better 2009!

Kimberly Vladovic, Assistant Principal
